

TIPS TO AVOID FRAUD

Check your account daily to ensure all transactions are made by you. If you don't recognize a transaction or believe it is not your transaction, call the bank immediately.

Protect your online banking credentials. Never give out your username or password.

Never share your bank account number.

Don't give anyone your debit card information.

Never click on links on the internet, in e-mails or text messages unless you know the sender.

If you are asked to call a number, use the number known to you or verify the number online and not the number provided.

If you receive a call from a friend or family member asking for money, immediately call them back on a known number even if you are told they won't answer or not to call them.

Don't send money to anyone you don't know or trust. If you received instructions to send money, call a known number to verify the instructions.

Never deposit money for someone else even if they promise to let you keep a portion.
